Sheraton Sells Lincoln Hotels

Capital, Lincoln Among 12 Properties Involved In $4,500,000 Deal

Sale of 12 smaller hotels, including the Capital and Lincoln Hotels in Lincoln and four other Nebraska hotels, was announced Tuesday by the Sheraton Corporation of America.

Sheraton said the 12 hotels, all recently purchased from the Eppley Hotel chain, were sold to Fields Management Co. of New York for a price in excess of $4,500,000. The 12 hotels were among 19 purchased and three leased in May from Eugene C. Eppley, Omaha, a midwest chain-hotel pioneer, in May for a price "in excess of $30,000,000."

Besides the Lincoln and Capital in Lincoln, the sale to Fields included The Evans at Columbus; Madison at Norfolk; Lincoln at Scottsbluff; Lafayette and Clinton at Clinton, Ia.; Chieftain at Council Bluffs, Ia.; Elms and Oaks at Excelsior Springs, Mo.; and Tallcorn at Marshalltown, Ia. and the lease on the Rome at Omaha.

Retaining 10 Sheraton said it was retaining the other 10 major Eppley properties included in the May purchase and planning to operate and integrate them fully into its system. Those 10 are the Sheraton-Fontenelle and the Logan in Omaha, the 1,500-room William Penn (now Penn-Sheraton) in Pittsburgh; the Sheraton-Seelbach, Louisville; the Sheraton-Johnson (formerly Alex Johnson), Rapid City, S.D.; Sheraton-Carpenter and Sheraton-Catawba, Sioux Falls, S.D.; Sheraton-Martin and Sheraton-Warrior, Sioux City, Ia.; and Sheraton-Montrose, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

The Sheraton-Fontenelle in Omaha and the Sheraton-Montrose at Cedar Rapids are still owned by Eppley but leased to Sheraton. Built in 1934 The 200-room Lincoln Hotel at 9th and P was built in 1934 by a group of Lincoln businessmen at a cost of about $350,000. A $300,000 addition was constructed in 1911. Thompson Hotel Co., of which D. E. Thompson of Lincoln was president, later acquired the property, which was sold to Eppley in 1925. It has more than 300 rooms.

The 200-room Capital Hotel, an 11-story structure which cost about $450,000, was built in 1930 by Eppley, who had in 1925 purchased the old Capital Hotel on that site. The site has been occupied by a hotel for more than 80 years, and earlier structures were known as the Douglas House and the Commercial Hotel.

Leo Fields of the Fields Management Co. visited the Lincoln and Capital Hotels briefly Monday.

No Personnel Changes He told The Star Tuesday night from Excelsior Springs, Mo., that no personnel changes are anticipated in the two Lincoln hotels or the other Nebraska properties purchased.

"We hope to run better hotels," Fields said, adding that "we will soon be sending groups from the New York office to study conditions at the hotels. It is too early to blue-print changes, but we will certainly be doing some remodeling and installing of air-conditioning in some of the hotels."

Managers Harold Goodwin at the Capital and Charles Dolan at the Lincoln, said they did not know of any changes planned and pointed out that Fields takes possession of the hotels October 1.

President Ernest Henderson of Sheraton said the midwest properties being sold had accounted for less than 15 per cent of the earnings of the Eppley system.

He said the decision to sell the smaller midwest properties was made after a thorough on-the-spot survey by a team of Sheraton's top vice presidents and was "in accordance with Sheraton's policy of concentrating its expansion program in major metropolitan centers."

Eppley, who is now honorary chairman of Sheraton, had owned all of his hotels outright, with no partners or stockholders, and had been a Sheraton director for six years before the May sale.

Reported also to have substantial stock holdings in the Statter-Hilton chain, Eppley has long been one of the wealthiest independent hotelmen in the world. He began his hotel career as a laborer in 1902.

Henderson reported that his company had had a number of bidders for the smaller Eppley hotels, but that his company had decided to sell them as a package to the Fields organization. The sale leaves Sheraton owning 42 hotels in 31 cities with a total of 22,583 guest rooms.

Washington (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Tuesday that Britain and France may "resort to force" if the Suez crisis worsens but Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson called the canal dispute "a relatively small thing."

Dulles' warning was given to 20 Latin American ambassadors at a secret briefing on western objectives at the London conference on projected internationalization of the vital waterway, recently nationalized by Egypt. Wilson told a news conference that U.S. military planning need not "flip up and down" because of such developments as the Suez dispute. The defense chief said he hopes the situation will be "local friction and not something that will involve East and West."

He conceded that "there is always the possibility of any war deteriorating into a bigger one," but said "we haven't got the war yet" and declared a solution can be reached "if people face the problems over a conference table to settle the war before it is started."

Wilson said the U.S. prefers to "exhaust all means of reaching a peaceful and fair settlement" rather than to "wave the big stick and threaten."

Closed-Door Meet Dulles' remarks to the Latin diplomats were made at a closed-door session but were revealed later by U.S. officials.

A state Department spokesman said Dulles pointed out that the London conference Aug. 16 was designed "not to justify the use of force but to avoid its use."

The spokesman added Dulles "did allude to the fact that it was reported that President Gamal Abdel Nasser had announced that he himself was deploying Egyptian forces to take over the canal works."

After the secret briefing, Panamanian Ambassador J. J. Vallarino told newsmen that Dulles had said "as a matter of fact, we regard Britain and France may feel entitled to resort to force."

State Department officials said Dulles made his remarks while answering hypothetical questions from the ambassadors as to how Britain and France would justify using force in the Suez crisis.

The State Department spokesman said he did not know if the U.S. regarded Egypt as having used force in taking over offices of the Suez Canal Company.

He said: "We know that they have either by constabulary or some other force taken over the canal."

The spokesman said Dulles did not tell the Latin Americans if he felt that the British and French had sufficient grounds to resort to force.

Marathon Conference CAIRO (INS) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser presided at marathon top-level conferences Tuesday as Egypt bid strongly for small nation support of her nationalization of the Suez Canal Company.

Nasser and his aids conferred throughout the day with the ambassadors of Ethiopia, Jordan, Sudan, Libya, Lebanon, Iran, Greece, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands and Iraq. Nasser ended the day with another in his series of meetings with Soviet Ambassador Evgeny D. Kisseliev.

The President announced through a spokesman he would hold a news conference "of international importance" at noon Sunday. This will be Nasser's first full-dress press conference in 20 months and at it, the spokesman said he will read a "detailed statement" and reply to questions.

Electrical Storm Is Severe

Spotted Rains Reported Up To Inch At York

A severe electrical storm hit the south central part of the state Tuesday night bringing with it strong winds and hard rain.

Showers Tuesday night at Lincoln had brought .38 inch precipitation early Wednesday morning. Earlier Tuesday .06 inch rainfall was reported in the city.

Lightning struck a hay barn on the Larry Joyce farm east of Hartwell, burning it to the ground. The hay and tools in the barn were a total loss.

About an inch of rain fell at York, which was plagued by a severe thunderstorm and high winds, but no damage was reported.

Grand Island, which had thunderstorms and rain showers most of the day, accumulated .17 of an inch of moisture. Hastings recorded .82 of an inch of rain and a baseball game there was rained out.

Geneva, Dorchester and Sutton had "hard rains" and violent electrical activity.

An observer at Seward said the rain was so hard he "couldn't see across the street." Electrical activity there kept householders in the dark for about an hour.

Crete had severe lightning and .55 inch rainfall. Lights were off in several parts of town during the storm.

Omaha rainfall Tuesday night totaled .68 inch, with some .94 inch falling during the day.

Sidney reported .01 inch precipitation.

A crop report following Monday's rains said the moisture was either too little or too late to help the corn, although deterioration slowed in some areas.

TOPEKA, Kas. (INS) — Gov. Fred Hall early Wednesday conceded the Kansas Republican gubernatorial primary to his chief opponent, Kansas State Rep. Warren Shaw, who had claimed victory shortly before the chief executive acknowledged defeat.

Hall, whose veto of the so-called "right to work" bill roused the anger of conservative Republicans, had 28,511 votes while Shaw tallied 38,104 with only 803 of the state's 2,957 precincts reporting.

Other Republican contenders for the governorship nomination were Francis Holton of Horton and Ewell Stewart of Topeka.

In the Democratic primary gubernatorial race, George Docking, Lawrence banker who was defeated two years ago by Gov. Hall, had a small lead with 10,140 votes against 9,106 for former Gov. Harry M. Woodring.

U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson virtually was certain of renomination in the Republican senatorial race over his opponent W. I. Bidle.

Missouri: Battle ST. LOUIS (U) — Two Republican lawyers waged a close fight Tuesday in scattered returns from Missouri's primary election for the spot on their ticket to oppose Democratic Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., in the general election.

In 1,903 of 4,555 precincts, Albert E. Schoenbeck, St. Louis, had 36,681 votes to 31,589 for Herbert Douglas, Neosho.

The race for Republican nomination for governor was all but decided.

Mississippi Gov. Coleman Critical

Leading Contender Makes Strongest Statement On Controversial Civil Rights Issue

CHICAGO (AP)—Mississippi Gov. James P. Coleman said Tuesday night he doesn't agree with Adlai E. Stevenson's new antisegregation stand, but that Stevenson "as of date" still appears to him to be the active candidate most acceptable to the South.

Coleman, designated as spokesman for 11 Southern states at a recent meeting in Atlanta, made his statement to newsmen after a supposedly secret meeting of Southerners converging here for next week's Democratic National Convention.

The meeting followed hard on the heels of a TV interview by Stevenson in which he came out for a party platform plank expressing "unequivocal approval" of the Supreme Court's decision striking down racial segregation in the nation's public schools.

He Calls It Informal Coleman, who kept insisting the gathering in his hotel suite was mostly a drop-in visit by 15 or so Southern friends, refused to commit himself on what sort of a civil rights plank the Democrats should put into their platform.

The shirt-sleeved governor said he was "surprised" by Stevenson's declaration Tuesday, but he declined to take issue before he knew exactly what Stevenson said, and the circumstances.

Coleman refused repeatedly to say what course he thinks the South will take.

But, he said, "whatever its action may be you can rest assured it will be totally unanimous."

Stevenson's statement was the strongest he has made on the most controversial issue building up for next week's Democratic National convention.

Stevenson was asked during a television interview about his views on a civil rights plank. He replied:

"Unequivocal Approval" "I have a very strong feeling that the platform should express unequivocal approval of the court's decision, although it seems odd that you should have to express your approval of the Constitution and its institutions."

On this one prime topic, at least, Stevenson's statement served to pull the rug from under the contention of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York that Stevenson is too much of a political moderate.

Only a short time before the interview, Harriman's camp had blasted at Stevenson on this "moderation" theme and drew a dressing down from Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler.

Almost Unprecedented It was an almost unprecedented action on the part of the party chairman.

Butler tossed aside his mantle of official party impartiality long enough to say it was "about time" Democrats started pulling together and talking about the Democratic party instead of each other.

By all counts, Stevenson is the front runner for the nomination next week and lately has been gunning for a first ballot blitz. But Loyd Benefield, director of Harriman for President headquarters, laid claims Tuesday to modest gains for his man.

And Benefield fired away with a statement saying (a) Harriman continues to maintain an "outspoken position on civil rights," (b) the committee erecting the party platform is "largely composed of many pro-Stevenson people" and (c) Harriman "urges the committee to reject all efforts to push through the first Democratic platform in recent history geared to 'moderation.'"

Thrust At Adlai That was an unmistakable thrust at Stevenson, who has been recommending a moderate approach to the 1956 political issues. In fact, it was the second jab in two days along the same lines.

And it brought from Butler, who is supposed to be neutral in the tussle for the presidential nomination, the call for more teamwork and less feuding.

Nathan said he knew of no foreign countries that were insisting this country change its racial customs. But he said segregation here "has a great effect on them and it reduces our influence."

Blast At Eisenhower Nathan was one of several Democrats who blasted away at President Eisenhower for what they called a "leaderless" foreign policy that has narrowly avoided plunging the nation into disaster.

Rep. Emmanuel Celler of New York, a committee member, charged the Eisenhower administration was at least partly responsible for Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

Celler said when the Republican administration agreed to Britain's withdrawing troops from Suez some time earlier it left the canal vulnerable to seizure.

Celler's comments came during testimony by Rep. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, who is running for a GOP-held Senate seat this fall. Dodd himself said that during Eisenhower's administration "the West has suffered a series of reverses, while the Communists have steadily gained ground."

Payroll Hiked At Pen Since March of 1955 the Nebraska Penitentiary's monthly payroll has increased by $10,685, the bulk of the increase coming in salaries paid to guards.

For details on these increases, and the raising of standards for guards employed at the Pen, see Betty Person's story the second in a series, on Page 6.

Britain, France May Use Force—Dulles

Wilson Calls Suez Dispute 'Relatively Small Thing'

Former Lincolnite, Mrs. Horn, Dies

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at Middle Stads Lake City Branch, Wash., for Mrs. M. H. Horn, 80, a former Bethany resident, who died in Bethell, Wash.

Her husband, Dr. M. H. Horn, practiced in Bethany for a number of years. They left Lincoln in 1949.

Mrs. Horn was a member of the Bethany Christian Church.

Surviving are her husband; brothers, Ernest Smith of Lincoln, Otis and John of Fairbury, Roy of Mahaska, Kan., William of Washington, Kan., Calvin of Morrowville, Kan., Dewey of Dallas, Ore., and sister, Mrs. George Rose of Mahaska, Kan.

COPS' TEAR GAS HALTS BRIDE'S 5-GUN RAMPAGE OVER HAIRCUT

VAN NUYS, Calif. (U) — A young bride, enraged because her husband had given her a butch haircut, went on a five-gun rampage Tuesday, shooting up her home, neighbors' homes and a police car.

A dozen officers finally ended the half-hour fusillade by routing blonde Mrs. Barbara Mihich, 23, with tear gas.

Mrs. Mihich hit no one, officers said, despite firing nearly 50 rounds from two shotguns, a .22 rifle, and two automatic pistols.

Surrendering, she told officers it was all the fault of her husband, William, 35, for clipping her curls.

"He told me he'd trim my hair because he was tired of always seeing it in curlers," she said. "He trimmed it all right, and how! He went hogwild and gave me a butch haircut."

Mrs. Mihich said she had gone out to a bar with friends to try to forget about the clipping. But when she came home, before dawn, she found the lack of hair was still on her mind.

One thing, apparently, led to another. Then, Barbara told officers, "he beat me."

Little Argument She was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Her husband, William, explained: "We were just having a little argument on the front lawn when she ran off in a huff. She dashed into the house and slammed the door. The next thing I knew bullets started pouring out of the window.

"She wasn't shooting at me, though. She was just shooting off her temper."

Table Pay Schedule

The board decided approval of a detailed salary schedule for the department employees pending further study. The board considered making any annual salary increases retroactive to the beginning of the present department fiscal year. The board felt they should not penalize employees for extended time used by the board for salary studies.

The board also voted to table pending further study, a department compensation schedule that had been revised to coordinate with the state merit system.

The board approved the resignation of H. A. Zook, lab technician grade 1, who has been called for military service. No replacement had yet been found.

Health Department Director Dr. James T. Goode told the board that 417 persons received polio shots from the department in July and August compared to only 144 persons previous to that for 1955. He also stated that 29 cases of tuberculosis were reported this year in the county and 25 persons were hospitalized.

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The province of Manabí in western Ecuador was reported in revolt Tuesday under leadership of a rebellious military garrison and defeated political leaders.

The Ecuadorian military high command issued an ultimatum demanding unconditional surrender of the rebel garrison in the river city of Puyo, the provincial capital of 20,000. The garrison is manned by 800 troops.

Jorge Acosta, subsecretary of the interior, said the entire province of Manabí, which has 225,000 population, was involved in the uprising. He indicated the government was in control of the rest of this nation of three million. Activities in Quito, Ecuador's capital, were normal.

The government imposed censorship on newspapers and outgoing dispatches. Guards were sent to the offices of news services.

British Admiralty Shatters Tradition For Tearful Bride

DEVONPORT, England (AP) — The British aircraft carrier Ocean, moored here to take on Mediterranean-bound troops, shattered an Admiralty tradition Tuesday. It took a tearful bride aboard. And that wasn't all.

As the wedding wishes were spoken, Capt. E. G. Roper, the ship's commandant, said he was going to resign. He said he was going to resign because he was going to resign because he was going to resign.

She turned out to be Mrs. Olive Polans, 27. She was in tears because the ship's crisis was tearing away her husband, Lance Corp. Bill Perkins, 31, whom she had married only last Saturday.

"Bring her aboard," the captain said. And not only that—he ordered the corporal and his bride confined alone to the captain's cabin from noon to midnight.

Old salts couldn't remember the like.

After the Ocean sailed Tuesday night Mrs. Perkins was back on the quayside, a happier woman.

"An example of real naval courtesy, I call it," she said.

Yanks Can't Travel In China Until 11 Freed

... U.S. State Department Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Tuesday it would refuse to permit any Americans to travel in Communist China until the Red regime frees all U.S. citizens from its jails.

A State Department statement took note of an invasion for 15 American reporters for news agencies, newspapers, radio and television companies to make a round-trip tour of the Communist world.

At a news conference, a State Department spokesman, in effect, warned that any American who traveled to Red China without an American passport, despite the department's stand, would be liable to a five-year jail term or a fine of $2,000, or both.

"We don't believe any responsible American newspaper will violate the passport laws of this government," said Joseph Rapp, a department press officer.

11 Still Held

Eleven Americans are reported still held by the Chinese Communists. Ten of these are in jail, and one this is reported on his way out of China after being freed.

"So long as these conditions continue it is not considered to be in the best interests of the United States that Americans should attempt the Chinese Communist invasion to travel in Communist China," the department statement said.

Answering questions, Rapp said the department makes no distinction between reporters and other Americans who might want to visit Red China.

Special Impediment

"The United States welcomes the free exchange of information," he said, "irrespective of political and social differences. But, the Chinese Communist regime has created a special impediment."

"It is the practice of holding American citizens and captives and holding them in effect as political hostages."

"It is common to do so despite the fact that on Sept. 10, 1955, at Geneva, it was promised that all Americans in Communist China would be allowed expeditiously to exercise their right to return to the United States."

Both Blame Other Ship

... First Details On Doria Sinking

NEW YORK (AP) — A dispute arose Tuesday over blame for the July 31 collision between the Swedish motorship Stockholm and the Italian liner Andrea Doria.

The Swedish-American Line said the Doria made a reckless left turn without warning into the path of the Stockholm.

The Italian Line replied that, on the contrary, it was a sharp, unexplained right turn by the Stockholm that caused the crash.

The opposing statements were preliminary to court actions in which blame for the collision will be argued. At stake are millions of dollars in damage claims.

Fifty-two persons are dead or unaccounted for in the collision off Naamkeet Light in the Atlantic Ocean. The Doria sank, but more than 1500 were rescued in one of the most spectacular operations in maritime history. The Stockholm was badly damaged, her bow smashed.

Lights Visible

While there was fog in the area at the time, the Swedish-American Line said the running lights of the two ships were visible to each other when they still were two miles apart.

The captain of the Stockholm at the time of the crash was Gunnar Norstrom. Capt. Piero Calamai was master of the Andrea Doria. The first court claim by either

Joint Group To Study $4 Million Sewer Program Method Of Enactment Is Problem

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Another joint city and Sanitary District No. 1 committee has been appointed to study suggestions made for carrying out the proposed $4 million sanitary sewer improvement program.

The suggestions came at a meeting of the District Board and the City Council.

As outlined by District Attorney Max Kier and Board member George Knight, the District could not undertake the improvement without enabling state legislation. This would be required for either a sewage usage fee or bond issue, Kier said.

City Has Authority

Another possible method was explained by City Attorney Jack Pace. The city, Pace said, has authority in its charter at this time which would permit it to enact a sewage use fee and issue revenue bonds without a vote of the people.

City Public Works Director D. L. Erickson estimated that a usage fee based on one-half the average water consumption would bring in about $400,000 a year.

Such financing on a pay-as-you-go basis without bonds would mean a nine to 10-year construction period, Erickson said.

"Can't Afford to Wait"

"Frankly," he said, "I do not believe we can afford to wait that long."

Knight had previously pointed out that raw sewage is being dumped daily into Salt Creek because of overloaded sewer lines.

It is a situation, Knight said, "which no longer can be tolerated."

Knight Urges Action

Knight told the group that since the city already has the machinery needed to carry out the improvements he was "inclined to ask, what are we waiting for?"

The group, however, agreed to Mayor Bennett Martin's suggestion for appointment of a committee to make a recommendation to both the Board and Council. The last such committee appointed failed to make any final report.

The new group will consist of District representatives William F. Stoen Sr., Max Harding and Henry Amen and Council representatives Pat Ash, Joseph Fenton and Hugh Thorne.

Lincoln Sailor Was Involved In Doria Rescue Operation

A Lincoln sailor has written his parents that he was aboard one of the rescue ships that rushed to the aid of the Andrea Doria when it sank after a collision with the Stockholm July 25.

Emil J. Weiss, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Weiss of 3720 Adams, was aboard the Navy transport U. S. S. Jonah Kelly which picked up two survivors from the Doria.

Young Weiss, an aviation electronics technician, said his ship reached the scene three hours after the collision and left before the Doria sank.

"I would have given $20 for a roll of film," he wrote, "but I had used mine all up as we left the harbor." One of the pictures he took was of the Stockholm as it passed the Navy ship in the harbor.

Young Weiss was on his way to Argentina Bay, Newfoundland, where he will work with radar.

He enlisted in the Navy after graduating from Northeast High School in June, 1955.

Many Happy Musical Memories

Melvin Ribble has a lot of memories from a long professional career in music as a performer and arranger. Ribble looks over some of the music with which he was associated during his music activities of past years. He will be honored Sunday night at Antelope Park when the Municipal Band will dedicate several numbers to Ribble at its weekly concert. (Star Staff Photo.)

Sunday Concert To Honor Music Pioneer Melvin Ribble

By LUCIGRACE SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Another happy memory will be added to those of more than 70 years in the music world when several numbers in the Municipal Band concert Sunday at Antelope Park will be dedicated to Melvin H. Ribble.

Ribble, now 86, will be at the concert to hear John Shildneck, director of the band, dedicate several selections to him. The band will also play some of the music which Ribble arranged during his many years in this field.

His first real musical instrument was given to him when he was a youth in Clarinda, Ia. He played with the band there and was well known for his solos on the baritone horn. The mayor of Clarinda presented him with his first baritone horn as a special honor, Ribble recalls.

Came to Lincoln in 1889

Ribble really began his long professional music career when he came to Lincoln in 1889. For several years he played with the Ashman Band—one of the outstanding bands of that period, according to Shildneck.

Later he "trouped around the country with various shows for 10 or 12 years" playing a cornet. In 1898, Ribble went to Chicago where he worked as an arranger for Harry Alford, whose company was considered one of the finest in the arranging business, and did the arranging for many of the top musical acts of "Tin Pan Alley" fame.

Alford's arrangement of "Our Hero" will be performed by the band Sunday.

Arranged Top Hits

Some of the music Ribble arranged for Alford includes these top hits of the period: "Looking at the World Through Rose-Colored Glasses," "Dream Train," "Sweethearts on Parade" and "Highways are Happy Ways."

Ribble also wrote numbers for the noted Rubank, Inc. which is still considered one of the top music houses in its field, Shildneck said. Among the numbers he did for Rubank were the well-known marches, "Spirit of Amer-

Grace, Prince Set Sail For Cruise On Yacht

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace sailed on their second Mediterranean yacht cruise Tuesday. The yacht Deo Juvante II had been scheduled to leave earlier but rough seas kept it in port.

Mrs. David Niven, wife of the British actor, is a guest of the royal couple.

They will be gone about two weeks.

Arranged No Marches

During this time he did much of the arranging for Billy Quick, who was director of the University of Nebraska Band for many years. It was Ribble who arranged the familiar "March of the Cornhuskers," "Hail Varsity" and the "Fight Song" which are still used at the University.

He also remembers making arrangements for former Lincolnite Wilbur Chenoweth, a popular pianist, organist and composer; the Band, and for former Omaha judge, Lester Palmer, who played the piano and wrote several songs, before becoming a judge.

Ribble and his wife, Lora, whom he married in 1916, live at 1546 No. 60th.

Never Took Lessons

Ribble says that he never took any lessons in music, but learned music from reading books on theory, harmony and counter-point. He explained that his own experience playing in bands was also invaluable in his work as an arranger.

"You can't arrange music for an instrument or an orchestra, unless you know how the instruments actually sound, no matter how much you may have studied," he said.

Shildneck, who will direct the band Sunday, said that he wanted to dedicate several numbers to Ribble because, "he is truly one of our pioneers in music, and those of us who are in the music business think a lot of him."

Shildneck's acquaintance with Ribble stems from the former's early years as a band director, when Ribble arranged a tango for him, written by Ed Walt, another Lincoln music pioneer.

Carving One's Initials

Editor Loomis, of the Columbus Telegram, writes a nostalgic column on the recent visit to Columbus of the distinguished book editor of the Chicago Tribune, Frederick Babcock.

Babcock, a native of Columbus son of H. E. Babcock who first conceived a plan to harness the Loup River to make it produce electricity, stopped in the town of his birth not too long ago overnight while en route to Wyoming and Colorado on a vacation. What more inspiration was needed than that a group of old friends gathered to visit with a native son, who has carved out for himself a distinguished career as a journalist. Babcock decided to devote his life in his earlier years to the role of roving reporter. In turn he served successfully as city editor of the Clevelander, drama editor for the Denver Post on the editorial staffs of the Seattle Times and Minneapolis Journal and then as travel editor for the Chicago Tribune which took him to 50 countries on five different continents.

At the same time he has had the time to write two excellent books which have experienced large sales, to fill lecture and radio engagements and to serve for two years as one of the three judges to select winners of the Pulitzer Prizes in fiction.

There was one familiar little episode in Mr. Loomis' account of that brief visit to Columbus. On the Sheldon family barn there, Fred Babcock, following the habit of so many young boys and young men of that day carved his initials. When the Sheldons tore down the barn, Mr. Sheldon carefully preserved the boards on which the young men carved their initials. It was the first thing Fred Babcock asked to see upon his arrival in his old home last week. That was truly in character as a lot of other men now living in large cities could testify. There are no friends like old friends and no memories quite so golden as the memories of boyhood.

Pollution Aid Coming

It was an item that did not attract top attention. Nevertheless, it was important to Nebraska to learn that two of its health department representatives will be in Kansas City this week to confer with federal authorities on planning against pollution of the state's waters.

Specifically, the Nebraskans wish to learn the details which when satisfied will place the state in position to draw upon $685,000 in federal funds to aid municipalities in projects for sewage control.

In the light of Nebraska's pollution problem and the ever-increasing importance of its rivers and the water that is in them the recent allocations by Congress fall by a substantial margin to face up to the true costs of anti-pollution measures. But in a program that is as yet in its infancy it constitutes a substantial starter and Nebraska has a good deal to gain by getting its program underway at the earliest opportunity. The best way to win greater future aid is to make good and effective use of that which is first offered.

Nebraska has many pressing public problems as it force breaks with the past. Not the least of them is that of conserving and improving one of its great and essential resources—water. It would be a serious error to refuse it the emphasis to which facts make it entitled.

Obsolete Statecraft

It is not a time to draw a sword in behalf of a minor league opportunist who in the person of Col. Nasser arose to headman of Egypt and has now rocked the world by his attempted seizure of the Suez canal. Such people are dangerous and in this nuclear age constitute a real world threat.

But the United States as well as other major powers might appropriately reflect seriously on some of their own time-tried attitudes while they strive urgently to bring about a suitable settlement of the current international tension. It is rather apparent statecraft generally is badly lagging the necessities of the atomic age and in

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

A Lincoln woman was telling of an unusual experience. Near the close of the week she left Lincoln to visit a community in the upper Elkhorn Valley. Between Seward and Columbus—a most fertile, productive section of Nebraska where normally corn reigns king—she reported, revealed only badly burned fields of corn. What impressed her even more was that pastures had been cropped as close to the ground as in the 30's, with no grass left for the herds. Then between Norfolk and Stanton, normally certain of corn, much the same condition was revealed, she said.

It is high time for the Eisenhower administration, from Secretary Benson on down, to declare a rigid moratorium on all this chatter about surpluses of farm commodities. It was tough enough on farm people—the farmer and his wife — to listen month after month while prices were falling until they no longer brought the farmer a profit but only plunged him into the red.

It took a lot of patience on the part of the rural residents to turn their ears to an administration asking for re-election on the grounds that it had brought the country to a prosperous basis, the most prosperous in all of its history, when in fact and in truth the farmer, his wife, their children and neighbors were sinking deeper and deeper into the mire of unprofitable operation. Now, there are some sections of Nebraska and even more serious conditions in other areas of neighboring states where it is questionable whether a surplus now exists, and where there has been a heavier complete loss of crops two or three years in succession. The administration is not singing its "surplus" theme song quite so much since early July, but it still is thinking and reaching decisions on the basis of crushing surpluses on American farms. There are isolated instances in Nebraska and in neighboring states where if livestock is to be maintained on the farms, it will be necessary for the owner to import corn and other feed.

Moratorium On Surplus Talk

The issue itself is above and beyond partisanship. This drought is extensive enough, the loss of crops widespread enough, the day-by-day needs in terms of consumption sufficient to suggest we should be thankful for the surpluses which did accumulate and which were a target for Secretary Benson's unsparing criticism.

It has been this nation's experience that the abundance which is our standard necessarily requires that we be just a little bit ahead of need. We call it surplus. The cribs may contain enough to tide us over for a year in event of crop failure. The holdings of small grain are the familiar carry-over of other years, including that which we called carry-over when pioneer Nebraska was taking the shape of a mature state. Secretary Benson and his crew have yapped and yapped until many people seem to have the impression we could not possibly whittle down the surpluses this country has accumulated. True, two dry drought years in sections of the great North American plains have left thousands of individual farmers without feed and without finances to hang onto their holdings. We cannot think of anything more brutal than to subject them to a vocal storm based upon what has been called the ever-mounting weight of surplus farm commodities.

It is time to quit talking about them in this campaign that lies ahead. Thousands and thousands of farmers have lost part or all of their crops. If they become aroused by this continuing talk that the farm problem must deal effectively with surpluses, would it be unreasonable on their part, especially those who haven't known a surplus for two years?

Dulles Blamed For Egyptian Crisis

WASHINGTON — The truth about John Foster Dulles' quick trip to London was that he did not have a happy time. He got one of the worst bawling-outs in his long years as a public figure.

Here is what happened: Secretary Dulles arrived in London to find Prime Minister Eden literally seething over the Suez Canal seizure. He was almost as irate against the United States as against President Nasser of Egypt — though not quite.

The French and the British were equally aroused, possibly more so, and both were resolved to use force to take the canal back from Egypt. Their position can best be understood by imagining how the American government and public would act if the Panamanian government, without notice, took over the Panama Canal Zone. Any U. S. administration which did not mobilize the fleet off Panama would lose the next election.

By the time Dulles arrived, Prime Minister Eden had already poised three British divisions to be ready to move, together with parts of the British fleet. The French had also promised 100,000 troops to support the British.

NO U. S. TROOPS

It was at this point that Dulles raised the red flag. He warned that Eden's plan would precipitate full scale war between the Arab states and the West, with only the Russians benefitting.

Dulles also warned that not a single American soldier would be sent to bolster the allies.

Eden, however, was not convinced. And during a hot four-hour session, the British prime minister considered going ahead with an occupation of the Suez Canal area by force.

During this top-level argument between the leaders of the Western world, Eden gave Dulles about the bluntest bawling-out that the head of one nation can give the foreign minister of another. He blamed Dulles for pressuring Britain to get British troops out of the Suez Canal in 1953 and then building Nasser's power in a race to see which could do most for Egypt — the United States or Russia.

Then, said Eden, Dulles precipitated the current crisis by suddenly withdrawing support for the Aswan dam which hitherto he had almost urged Nasser to accept. Placed on that kind of a spot, a dictator like Nasser, who depends on public acclaim, had to do something drastic.

Eden also pointed out that Britain and France had supported the United States when we got into trouble over Korea, even though the Korean war was extremely unpopular in Europe. In contrast, he said, the United States was now dragging its feet, expecting the British and French to take responsibility for a problem which the United States had precipitated.

John Foster Dulles listened silently. In the end, Prime Minister Eden and French Foreign Minister Pinieau agreed to hold off military action for the time being — but only for the time being — in order to propose international control and give Nasser time to retreat.

What worries Foster Dulles and high Republican strategists is the timing of the international meeting on Suez and its aftermaths.

The meeting is to be held on August 16, just as Republican delegates head for San Francisco to renominate Ike and/or Nixon-Herter. Assuming the Suez meeting takes about a week, and that another two weeks is given Egypt to act on an ultimatum, this would put any Suez showdown just at the beginning of the election campaign — a campaign built on the Eisenhower political theme song — "Peace and prosperity."

U.S. Lacked Egypt Policy

COL. NASSER

WASHINGTON — While Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was still in London conferring with the French and the British on the Suez Canal crisis, it was determined that his return should be hailed as another triumph for "brinkmanship" or the art of pulling back from the brink of war.

Dulles' argument for restraint did have a calming effect and he successfully pressed his case for a 24-nation conference on internationalizing the canal. But any sense of triumph, as reflected in the secretary's reiteration of the force of "moral principles" in his White House talk, has long since faded.

The threat to the canal which, in turn, menaces the whole western stake in the Middle East, including Europe's oil supply, has brought the painful realization that this country has, in fact, had no Egyptian or Middle East policy in any constructive or positive sense of the word.

It is important to recall the sequence of recent events. On November 14, 1954, Gamal Abdel Nasser supplanted General Mohammed Naguib, who had been aiming at military dictatorship. The private boast widely circulated in Washington was that this bloodless coup had been engineered by the Central Intelligence Agency and that Nasser was "our man."

Shortly afterward Henry Byroade went as American ambassador to Cairo. Those who have seen his first dispatches say that he reported not that Nasser was "our man" but that he "could be our man."

There followed a long haggle over the possible sale of American arms to Egypt, with negotiations reportedly breaking down over Egyptian insistence that payment could be made only in British sterling.

Then came the American-British proposal to build the high Aswan dam on the Nile. This went so far that Eugene Black, head of the International Bank for Reconstruction, discussed the project with Nasser not once, but twice. Black believed that with an initial grant of $70,000,000 from the two western powers—$36,000,000 from the United States and $34,000,000 from Great Britain—the dam could be built to the great benefit of Egypt.

But abruptly, and with almost no warning to officials of the bank who were still discussing aspects of a bank loan, Dulles withdrew the American offer.

One reason is said to have been pressure from senators from the South, anxious to prevent more world competition from Egyptian cotton, who stipulated that the Aswan dam deal be called off in return for their support of the foreign aid bill. But whatever the motive, the way in which the offer was pulled back seemed deliberately designed to send Nasser off on some new adventure.

Whatever any and all of his critics say about Nasser is less than the truth. But from the viewpoint of Western policy and the effort to maintain stability in the Middle East, to denounce Nasser as a demagogue is irrelevant.

It is irrelevant to the massive and terrifying facts of present-day Egypt. As the population reference bureau recently pointed out, Egypt's birth rate is one of the highest in the world. At the same time, the death rate, thanks to modern health techniques, dropped 40 per cent between 1945 and 1952.

The boiling upsurge of population—23,000,000 people in a country in which 96 per cent of the land is desert—mixed with the dynamite of nationalism, spells revolution of one kind or another. It may be chaos and breakdown, with the Western powers trying forcibly to maintain order and the operation of the canal, or it may have a Communist impetus with perilous overtones for the peace of the world.

To the other Arab countries, and even to many of the neutrals, this will seem to be a contest not merely between Arab and Western powers, nor even between "colonial" and "imperial" nations but between the haves and the have-nots. For this reason, if for no other, it has the most dangerous implications for the oil supply on which the economy of Western Europe depends.

Seen from this viewpoint, it must appear that the West had no alternative but to try to work with Nasser to alleviate the fearful pressures of hunger and population in Israel, with its heroic struggle to move forward economically and industrially, there must be some realization of the threat inherent in the inflamed Egyptian mass.

The question now is whether this is all in the tragic realm of what might have been or whether it may still be possible to check the swift descent into the whirlpool. (Copyright, 1956, By U. F. Syndicate, Inc.)

Sales And Income Tax

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I wish to applaud the letter ("Chamber of Commerce") by Ralph E. Allen not only because it is in line with my own thoughts but also because in it he has handled a situation in a most adroit and to-the-point manner. It is one of the few letters of which I can really say: "That hits the nail right on the head."

The fact that the Chamber of Commerce is an organization of, by, and very much for the business group seems often to be either forgotten or hidden by the C of C's as they ride roughshod over everybody else's interests and at the same time claim to have the welfare of everybody in mind. Their recent outlook on taxes is an epitome of their general attitude. Here a organization which is predominantly "well-heeled" came out resoundingly in favor of a state sales tax as is to be expected of a narrow-minded self-interested group of businessmen rather than a civic-minded organization of businessmen interested in the welfare of all the people. The sales tax not only fails to take into account progressively one's ability to pay but it actually levies a higher rate of tax the lower one's income is. This would obviously benefit the richer businessman who would have comparatively light taxes at the expense of the poorer man who would be carrying the brunt of the tax load.

It is my contention that the graduated income tax is the closest thing yet to a perfect tax and that as such it should be adopted by the citizens of Nebraska.

I think it is high time that the Chamber of Commerce either take a truly broad viewpoint with all the people in mind or cease misrepresenting itself as more than an organization of, by, and very much for the business group. Once more I wish to congratulate Mr. Allen on a letter well written. Commendations are also in order for L. J. Mathewson (Aug. 4 Star, "Income, Sales Tax") for an astute, objective analysis of the current controversy on the national scene involving the income tax vs. the efforts of the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce who are working through the figure of T. C. Andrews, alleged tax expert, to replace our national income tax with a national sales tax. Let us all hope and pray that the efforts of these groups in their present campaign—which isn't really so new—fail.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I must say that I am in complete agreement with "A Mother" concerning the cost of polio shots. After reading the editor's note about this article, I am alarmed that the doctors in Nebraska would use polio shots in the money-making way that they have. In your note you quoted the State Polio Advisory Committee as stating that $1 barely covers the cost of vaccine and equipment. That leaves $4 for their services. What a return for five minutes' work!

I have three children of my own and they have had all shots available to them regardless of price. Doesn't the medical profession think of those who can't afford $5 a shot to protect their children, or are they going to take every one they can for $5 and then lower the price?

Most of the shots given children are only $3 and I believe that is also enough for polio shots. My doctor quoted $3 as the price but when the shots were available, they were $5. I wonder why?

The Big Dam

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: That slogan of Harry Woodring's—"A pond on every farm and a lake in every county"—must sound refreshing to those water-famished, sun-baked farmers in the drought-stricken areas of Kansas. But many of those farmers have dug the holes for the ponds over the past three years, and they have remained dry holes most of the time. Even a shallow filling evaporates rapidly in those restless winds and beating sun.

The inadequacy of small ponds suggests the multiple-purpose dams in water and soil conservation. The ever enlarging deficiency of water for domestic use, livestock raising, irrigation, manufacturing, navigation and wildlife conservation call for all the means and devices so far invented to retain and conserve the water resources. Contouring and small retaining reservoirs help, but their supplies are rapidly obliterated in the severe seasons. The huge supplies impounded behind multiple-purpose dams go much farther. They also have the further advantage that the revenues from electric power and from irrigation provide a cost-liquidating income that takes care of the government loan and the gifts in lieu of taxes to the local communities.

Along with Mr. Woodring's "pond for every farm," we suggest: "Dam the big ones—they pay back more" as sounder conservation.

POSTCARD

All over Gallup, New Mexico, they had hung red-and-gold street banners saying, "Intertribal Indian Ceremonial."

The ceremony was coming up in mid-August. It was a d-booths full of literature along the main street. A good many Indians were strolling along the streets and checking the action, preparing for the big day.

It was a sunny, warm day. But cool enough since Gallup is up 6500 feet on the Great Plains. The Indians were mainly Navajos who are the gaudiest dressers in the southwest.

The man at the tourist booth gave me a handful of literature and said he sure and get around for the Ceremonial. He said about 30 Southwest tribes would be there. Dancing, horse trading and pushing blankets on the tourists.

"The Ceremonial started in 1922. Bunch of Gallup business people—I hear a saloon keeper got the idea to hold onto the tourist trade."

"Well, gosh knows there was always plenty of Indians around here what with the Zuni on the south and the Navajo reservation up at Window Rock. But nobody paid them much mind except once in awhile some buck'd get drunk and go on a private war party and somebody'd cool him off."

"Then the roads opened up and the tourist business helped. You know, all the people with cameras taking pictures and saying, 'How quaint! Though it might be some sheepherder just paid off and sleeping it off on the sidewalk.'"

"Anyway, they decided on this annual Ceremonial. And now it has become about the biggest thing in Gallup. The Indians are crazy about it."

I asked him where all the Indians stayed. Since the literature advises you to get reservations at the motels during Ceremonial times.

He said most of them slept outside of town.

"They sleep in the back of pickup trucks. They come in with those pickups jammed like a commuter bus."

When the Ceremonial first started, they held it the last week in August.

The last week in August is when the Hopi Indians up north hold their rain dance.

"The town stuck it out for a number of years. But those Hopis could call down rain like you wouldn't believe. Dance around with rattlesnakes and when they turn loose the snakes, the snakes take the word to the rain gods."

The Gallup people went to the Hopis. They said how about asking the rattlesnakes to put off the showers until the Gallup con-

Falls City Couple Sues Lincolnite For $103,975 Damages

A Falls City couple has filed two Lancaster District Court suits totalling $103,975 against a Lincoln beer distributor as the alleged result of a car-truck collision last year in Richardson County.

Named defendant was Oral V. Wilson, doing business as Wilson Beer Distributors.

In his suit, George Pupkes asks $75,975 for injuries, medical expenses and property damage allegedly suffered when his car was in collision with the defendant's truck on Highway 4 near the Preston road on April 19, 1955.

His wife, Gladys Pupkes, was a passenger in the car and asks $25,000 for alleged personal injuries. The husband also seeks $3,000 for medical expenses of his wife.

The suits allege the truck's driver was an employee of the defendant.

clave was over?

The Hopis said they couldn't do that. They had been working with the rattlesnakes and the rain gods for thousands of years. They couldn't take a chance on putting them off schedule.

The Gallup people were stubborn too. They said, by John, it couldn't rain forever. But the Hopis went right on making rain.

"The ceremonial'd start off with the sky as blue as you please

But you'd notice all the Apaches and Navajos brought their tarps down with them. They knew those Hopis.

"Along about afternoon'd come a little white cloud. Then big black clouds. And by and by the worst rain storm you ever saw."

"So finally we gave up. We moved the Ceremonial up a week ahead of the Hopis."

"But until we did there were some mighty wet Indians around here. Wet tourists, too."

DROUGHT CONDITIONS NOT MAIN CAUSE OF INCREASED IRRIGATION—ENGINEER

KEARNEY, Neb.—Drought conditions have not been the main cause of more irrigation farming in Nebraska, Bill Pierce, a local irrigation engineer, told farm men and rural appraisers holding a two-day meeting here.

Dry land farmers could get along under normal crop yield and the present drought only served to accelerate the shift to irrigation. We can consistently produce more per acre at less cost under irrigation, Pierce continued. He cited an example near here where, an irrigation farmer produced 140 bushel corn per acre last year. Pierce cautioned that farmers deciding to irrigate must change their thinking and think in terms of irrigation instead of terms of rainfall.

Farmers planning to irrigate should expect to use more fertilizer including starter fertilizer, plant corn 8 to 10 inches apart, plow the land and surface plant. Pierce urged farmers who are thinking about irrigating to plan, estimate the cost, and decide how long it will take to accomplish the goal of increased production.

The two-day meeting ends Tuesday with a tour of three irrigation farms in the area. The afternoon program included a business session and a talk on the response of crops to fertility treatments with varied topsoil moisture by Robert Ramig member of the North Platte Experiment Station staff.

32 Added to Pen Payroll Since March '55

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Since March, 1955 an over-all program of improvements at the Nebraska Penitentiary has resulted in the addition of 32 persons to the institution's payroll, and pay scales for personnel already on the rolls have been raised.

The increased staff and higher salaries have accounted for a payroll increase of $10,685 a month, or more than $128,000 a year.

The largest number of new employees has come in the correctional staff, which has hired 26 more persons. Whereas the March, 1955, payroll in this division totaled $26,914 for 145 persons, the July, 1956, payroll listed 171 persons at $46,449, an increase of $9,535 per month.

WARDEN BOVEY

Standards Up

Warden Joseph B. Bovey, pointing out that standards have been raised for the correctional staff, said persons hired there now must be high school graduates or equivalent, be adaptable to training, and have had some kind of experience either in business, military service or other police duty to make them particularly well-fitted for work in a penal institution.

In 1954, an investigating committee named by then-Governor Robert Crosby had criticized treatment of inmates by some guards, but added: "It is fair to say the prison administration is somewhat handicapped in securing a high level of prison assistants and well-trained guard at the present salary level."

Pay Raised

At that time there were two classifications of guards and their salaries averaged $231 or $241 per month, depending upon grade. Lieutenants' salaries ranged from $261 to $301 per month, two captains each received $311, and the deputy warden received $300, plus his maintenance.

Since that time the guard program has been reorganized and now includes three classifications. Top grade is correctional officer and there are 56 men in this classification whose salaries range from $275 to $290 a month; Guards II and Guards I receive an average salary of $260; two captains each

A comparison of salaries for the same period shows:

Staff additions and salary increases in other divisions have accounted for a monthly payroll increase of $1,150.

Hundreds Killed In Colombia Blast

8 SQUARE BLOCKS LEVELED

Dynamite Trucks Explode In Cali

CALI Colombia (AP) — Hundreds of persons were reported killed Tuesday in tremendous explosions and fires erupting from seven dynamite trucks parked in the heart of Cali.

The first high official report called it political sabotage.

The death toll—still guesswork Tuesday night—was estimated at from 300 to 1,000 or more. Many were injured.

Cali newspaper estimates put the death toll as high as 1,000 while searching for bodies was far from complete.

Common Grave

Funeral services for the victims were held during the day in the Roman Catholic cathedral.

Authorities withheld a casualty list but it was reported no fewer than 300 victims would be buried in one common grave.

Authoritative sources, judging from inquiries received from relatives on the fate of residents in the blast and fire area, figured the death toll at more than 500.

A series of blasts and spreading fires leveled eight square blocks of the city of about 285,000.

Colombia's President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla was the authority for the first official casualty figures.

He said Monday night more than one thousand are dead and injured.

In a message to Gov. Alberto Gomez Arenas of the Valle Department (state) the President said:

"The government will not rest until the intellectual and material authors of this treacherous and criminal attempt receive exemplary punishment."

Many Soldiers

The message-broadcast over a nationwide network—said the dead and injured are mainly soldiers and humble people."

The President's message referred to complicated political maneuverings as an obscure cause of the great blast.

He condemned political pacts that he said "try to re-establish the country in the situation that reigned some years ago."

This was a reference to a political agreement recently signed at Benidorm, Spain, by former President Alberto Lleras Camargo, Liberal party leader, and former President Laureano Gomez, Conservative party leader.

Damage from the explosion and its consequences was in uncounted millions of dollars.

Nebraska Guardsmen Receive Briefing

Lincoln, A/2C Don W. Deterding of Deshler, M/Sgt. G. J. Harrington of Lincoln, Air Force technical adviser, A/1C John F. Zimmer III of Lincoln and T/Sgt. E. R. White of Lincoln (seated). The men are members of the 132d Air Base Group of the Iowa-Nebraska Air National Guard in summer field training at Casper, Wyoming.

STOCKS GET BACK PART OF LOSSES

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recouped part of Monday's big drop Tuesday. Smartest recovery was in the same stocks that were hardest hit inter-aluminums. A group of aircraft stocks joined the higher parade, national oils, steels, coppers and giving the market a well-rounded upside appearance.

While the Suez Canal incident was still very much in the international news, brokers went on the assumption a calmer view of the affair was being taken both at home and abroad. There was a modest comeback in prices on the London Stock Exchange and some betterment on the Paris Bourse.

Royal Dutch, one of the biggest losers on Monday, got back $2.87 of its loss today, closing at $103.12. Gulf Oil retrieved $2 at $129.50. Aluminum, Ltd. recovered $1.50 at $144.25 and Bethlehem Steel recouped $1.87 at $166.12.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended ahead 70 cents at $189.50. This was roughly one-third of the loss shown on Monday.

County Surveyors' Get New Station Wagon

The County Board has approved purchase of a station wagon for the county surveyor's crew from Gotfredson Motor Company for $1,909 with no trade in.

Gotfredson's bid on a four-door, eight-cylinder vehicle was accepted as the "lowest responsible bid." Four other bids were submitted.

Lewis & Clark Lake Expected To Be Most Productive

Officials Tuesday expressed the opinion that the Lewis and Clark reservoir lake at Gavins Point Dam, Yankton, S.D., will be the most productive and useful lake on the main stem of the Missouri River Basin project.

Members of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service were in Lincoln Tuesday conferring with State Game Commission Secretary Dou Steen about Lewis and Clark Lake. They were Harry Goodwin and Robert Scott of Billings, Mont., and Goodman Larson of Grand Island.

Steen said the service anticipates that Lewis and Clark Lake will also provide the best fishing and hunting of any of the reservoir lakes.

Lewis and Clark Lake extends along the northern border of Nebraska from Niobrara east to Yankton. It contains 31,000 acres of water, has 100 miles of shoreline, is approximately 30 miles long and averages three miles in width.

One of the unusual features of the lake, according to federal officials, is that it fluctuates only three and one-half feet under normal conditions, a rarity in a reservoir lake.

Lake McConaughy near Ogallala, Neb., fluctuates from a peak of 30,000 feet down to 15,000 feet.

Admits Rebellion

HONG KONG (INS) — A high-ranking Chinese Communist official admitted a rebellion last February in western Szechuan province.

The statement was made by Liu Ke-ping, chairman of the committee of Nationalities of the National Peoples Congress, in an interview with Franco Calamandrei, correspondent of the Italian Communist newspaper "L'Unita" in Peiping.

Admission of last February's rebellion was made in denying the existence of a new rebellion in Tibet.

Two Men Charged With Disturbing Lincoln Girl, 19

Two Lincoln men were charged with disturbing the peace and quiet of a 19-year-old girl following an investigation of her claims of alleged rape on July 31.

Arraigned Tuesday in Lancaster County Court were:

Jerry Hollman, 24, of 1415 No. 19th, who pleaded no contest to the disturbance charge. The court deferred sentence pending its investigation.

Jack Warne, 25, of 2234 Sheldon, who pleaded not guilty. Trial on the disturbance charge was set for Aug. 18 under a $500 appearance bond.

The disturbing the peace charges were filed by Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch after the Lincoln girl was given a lie detector test and further investigation made of her claims that she had been attacked.

The two defendants were picked up in Nebraska City for Lincoln police.

State Polio Count Increases By 11

Nebraska has counted only 31 cases of polio this year, but a third of these were reported last week, the State Health Department disclosed Tuesday.

Douglas County had four cases last week and Dodge had 2. Adams, Burt, Hooker, Lancaster and Sarpy had one each.

The state had counted 107 cases at this time last year.

City-County Civil Defense Budget Halved

The city-county civil defense budget has been trimmed slightly more than half to a $12,000 appropriation for 1956-57.

Lancaster County and Lincoln have agreed to the shared budget, according to County Board Chairman Russell Brehm.

The budget, slashed from a proposed $25,363.07, still provides a $1,500 salary increase for part-time Civil Defense Director R. A. Vesteka to a $3,900 annual salary.

The increase was made possible by the abolishment of the part-time deputy director post. The full-time clerk's salary remains at $2,340 a year.

The budget leaves about $6,000 for new equipment, cost of which is matched with federal funds.

Included in this category is a new civil defense siren, costing $1,843.72 in local funds, for southeast Lincoln.

Biggest item knocked out by the reduced budget is proposed communications equipment estimated to cost $12,925, which was to be paid for equally by local and federal funds.

Still intact is money for radio-logical equipment needed for training civil defense teams.

'Vocational Ag Training Adjustments Need To Be Considered Now'-Hardin

Recent shifts in the United States population pattern and changes in farm operations warrant the consideration of adjustments in vocational agricultural training, Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin of the University of Nebraska, said Tuesday.

He spoke at the opening of a three-day session of agricultural educators being held on the University campus. Delegates include faculty members of colleges and universities in 13 midwestern states.

"Vocational agriculture in our high schools is no longer the terminal course it once was," Chancellor Hardin said. "The best estimates indicate that at least 25 per cent of the high school vocational agriculture students are now going on to college and that another 30 per cent of them eventually work in some occupation related to agriculture rather than on the farm.

More Emphasis

"The record is such that we might well ask whether more emphasis should be given to basic courses in chemistry, botany, mathematics and languages within the framework of the high school vocational agriculture program," he said.

The Chancellor said he has a deep personal respect for the vocational agriculture instructor who must have a broad knowledge of agriculture and who at the same time must be a good teacher, something of a social scientist, and minor authority in public relations.

The fact that college-trained people are now in short supply and will continue to be in short supply for several years to come points up the need for a re-emphasis of adult training within the vocational agriculture program, the Chancellor said. He suggested that both the vocational agriculture and the agricultural extension people make a strong effort to co-operate in the development of agricultural training programs to better serve both young people and adults.

Other Speakers

Other speakers on the morning program of the Central Regional Research Conference in Agricultural Education in the central region, included C. P. Deyoe and H. M. Hamlin, both of Illinois and R. J. Woodin, Ohio, who gave a report on a "Low Income Farmer Study." R. E. Bender, Ohio, also spoke on the morning program.

Frank E. Sorenson, chairman of the Department of Educational Service, Teachers College, at the University, discussed the "Nebraska Community Study: Action Research."

W. V. Lambert, dean of the university's College of Agriculture, discussed "Russian Agriculture" with the conference delegates Tuesday night.

Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to committee discussions and reports. The conference ends Friday noon.

Death Cause Of Body Due Wednesday

Chief Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch said there was "nothing new" Tuesday in the case of the "unknown" woman's body found in Salt Creek.

The complete autopsy report with microscopic examinations—expected to shed some light on the cause of death—has been delayed until Wednesday, Fahrbruch said.

Identification of the woman will probably depend on Washington, D.C., laboratory reports not expected for "several days or so."

The investigation appears centered on a 29-year-old Lincoln woman reported missing since early Wednesday morning.

All possible causes of death or foul play, including suicide, are being checked by the county attorney's office.

The body was found Sunday in Salt Creek about seven miles northwest of Lincoln by two state troopers.

State In 'Poor Position' For Water Pollution Funds—Rogers

... Warns Personnel Needed For Federal Money

By BETTY PERSON

Star Staff Writer

Nebraska might be in a "poor position to compete with other states" in acquiring additional personnel to administer federal water pollution funds, State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers said Tuesday.

Under a bill recently passed by Congress, Nebraska is eligible for $685,000 in federal funds to aid municipalities in sewage control. An additional $28,000 is allocated for administering the program.

It will be the responsibility of the State Health Department to determine where these funds should be allocated and to submit its recommendations to the surgeon general of the Public Health Service for approval. Grants will be made directly to municipalities.

More Testing

Dr. Rogers said the new program will mean additional testing for state laboratories and will require a full-time sanitation engineer, as well as a clerical staff and expenses for an advisory council, assuming the state program will be based on the formula established by the federal hospital construction act.

The State Health Director said it would be unfair to existing department personnel and the State to expect them to take on this full-time job and let other duties go.

"But," he added, "with Nebraska at the foot of the ladder in compensation it will be difficult to obtain the qualified personnel needed for this project."

Two provisions of the act require that at least 50 per cent of the funds shall be used for grants for construction of treatment works servicing municipalities of 125,000 population or under, and that no grant shall be made for any project in an amount exceeding 30 percent of the estimated cost of the work or in an amount exceeding $250,000, whichever is smaller.

Conference

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi and Laboratory Director L. O. Vose are leaving Wednesday for Kansas City for a conference to determine how the program should be set up.

Rogers said the State Health Department would have to establish a priority system based on two factors: the financial need of the municipality and the extent of the pollution problem therein.

The 1955 session of the Legislature turned "thumbs down" on a similar proposal establishing a state water pollution control division, but the federal act now makes this mandatory if the state wishes to use the new funds.

Famous Lyricist Latouche Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—John Latouche, 39, lyricist for many Broadway musicals and experimental productions, died Tuesday of a heart attack at his summer home in Calais, Vt.

Latouche had gone there about 10 days ago after finishing revisions on the American folk opera "Ballad of Baby Doe," which had its premiere in Central City, Colo., last month and was to be brought to New York this season.

Among Latouche's best-known works were "The Golden Apple," "Cabin in the Sky," "Banjo Eyes" and "Ballad for Americans," a work that originally appeared in the WPA theater production "Sing for Your Supper."

Tornado Damage Estimate $500,000; Buildings Ruined

MARTIN, S. D. (AP)—A tornado which tore off the roof of the Community Hospital here Monday night, demolished 40 buildings and caused damage estimated at a half million dollars.

although the storm's heaviest blow struck the residential district of this southwestern South Dakota community of about 1,000. Flying debris and cement blocks from a recently built stock sales pavilion were strewn about the streets.

Sheriff Robert Sheball said the twister rolled back the roof of the hospital "like a carpet." All patients were evacuated safely. Several buildings were lifted from their foundations intact. Highways and streets were blocked, covered with debris.

Plenty of Zip at a pip of a price

(It's a great time to buy a Buick!)

SERIOUSLY—where else can you get so much snap and ginger at such a peach of a price? Where else can you get a big, high-powered, steady-riding hardtop like this '56 Buick Riviera—at a figure that's pretty close to what they're asking for similar models of the well-known smaller cars? Nowhere else that we know of—which is one big reason why Buick outsells all other cars in America except two of those smaller cars. BUT RIGHT ALONG with low price is something else behind Buick's big success: Buick is a lot more automobile for the money. It gives you more room and luxury—more zip and power thrill. It gives you the fine handling and sure-footed stability of ride that can come only from the solidity of structure of a big car. And it gives you something you can get in no other car—today's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the only transmission in the world with the cruising thrift and the switch-pitch safety-surge taken from the modern plane's propeller.

Why hold back—when the time to take action is now, so you can start enjoying all the golden months of summer and fall in a new '56 Buick?

Now—when Buick prices are as low as—perhaps lower than—they'll ever be again.

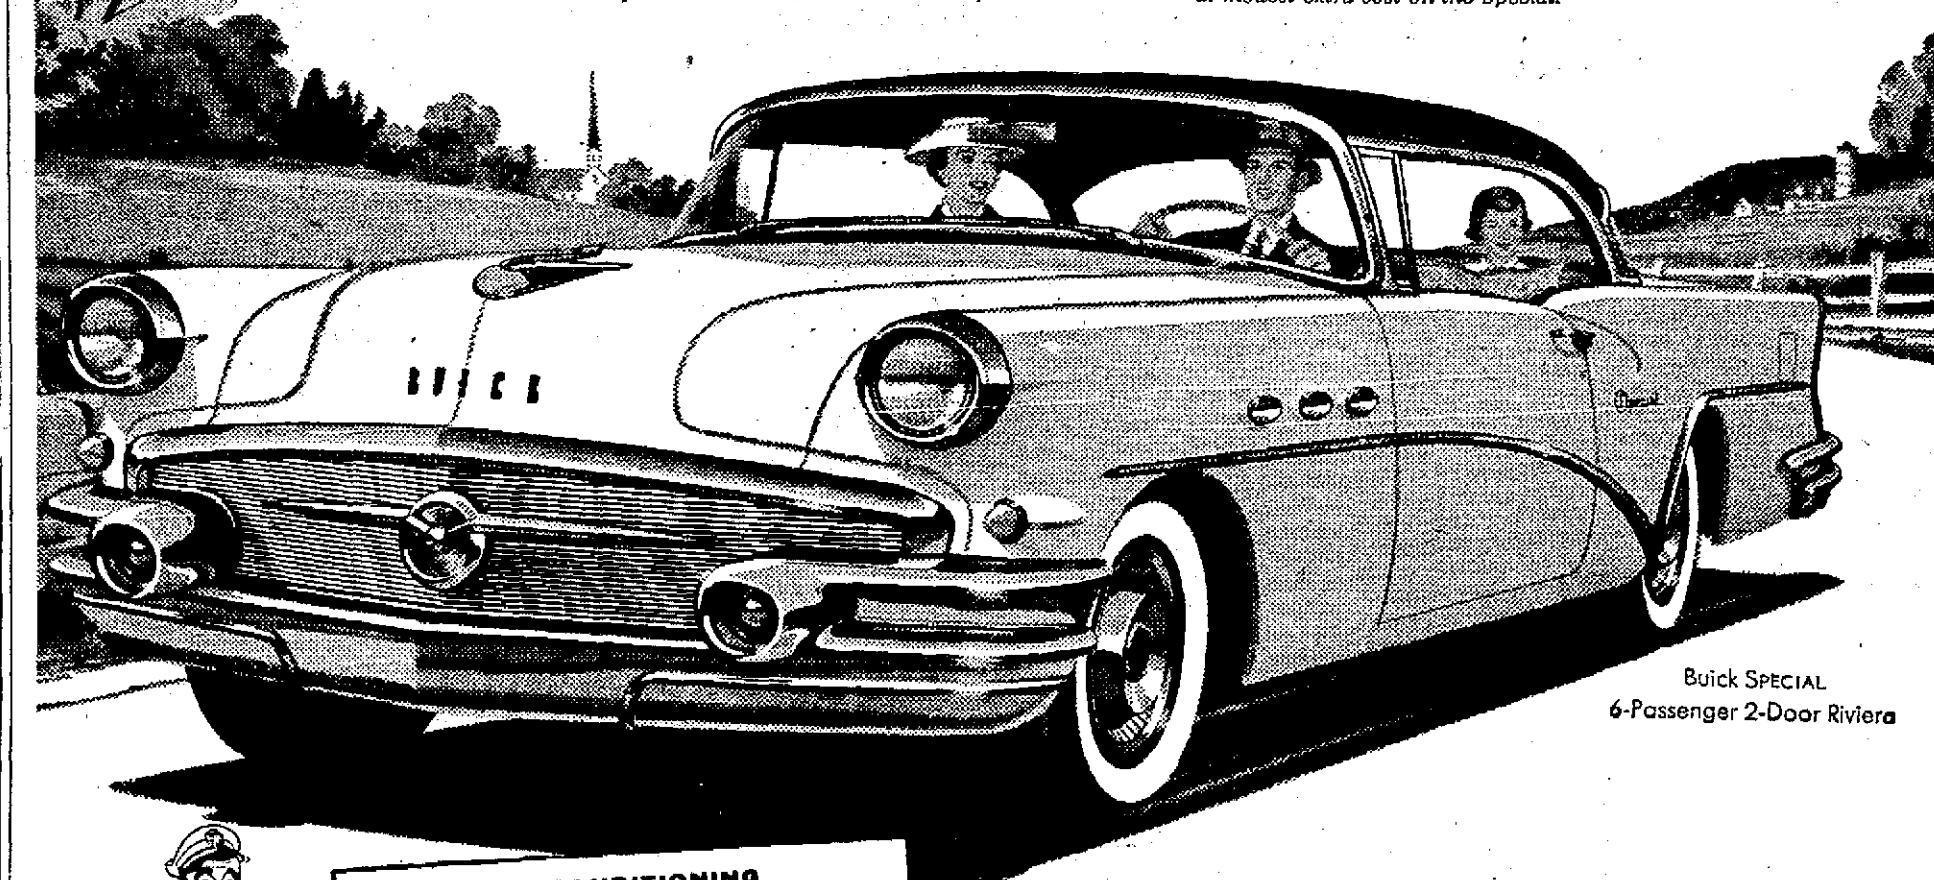

Now—when your present car is at its peak of worth.

Now—when today's high volume '56 Buick sales permit us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Come see us—fast as you can—and look into the car so crammed with advanced styling and engineering features that it puts you years ahead right now.

Wilson Denies Pentagon Plans An 800,000-Man Military Cut

WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of Defense Wilson Tuesday denied reports that the Pentagon plans an 800,000 man slash in the military forces but added he is "willing to say there should be some manpower cuts."

Wilson told a news conference there had been "some discussions" of manpower problems but that no formal papers or recommendations of any kind have been submitted.

The secretary said in early June that he was considering some reductions in military manpower but he gave no figures.

The 800,000 figure was raised in a New York Times story last month saying the chiefs of staff of the Army, Navy and Air Force were in revolt over a reported proposal for such a cut put forth by Adm. Arthur Radford.

Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the next day formally denied that any decision had been made for an 800,000-man cut by 1960, as reported. Such a cut would leave about two million under arms in the U. S. forces.

Other points made by Wilson at his news conference included:

1. He had received an initial, tentative "flash report," from the three military services asking 48½ billion dollars for the fiscal year starting next July 1.
2. Wilson said that "I would like to wash out that figure as any reasonable forecast" of the 1953 budget. Congress voted about 38 billion dollars for the fiscal year which ends next June 30.
3. Wilson said the government has "had to take some interest" in the situation which led to the management relationship arrangement between Curtiss-Wright and the Studebaker-Packard Corp. He declined to discuss details but said, "We didn't take any business away from anywhere else and give it to Studebaker-Packard."

Wilson said the government's part in the situation "was largely to clarify what our relations were with Studebaker-Packard and what they were likely to be, so that Curtiss-Wright could plan" in its complicated operation with the auto firm.

Missiles

3. The extra 100 million dollars which Congress voted the Air Force for the current fiscal year gave the funds requested by the administration, probably will go largely to ballistic missiles. But Wilson said he had received no recommendations from the Air Force so far as to where the money should be spent.

4. Wilson described as "fairly accurate" recently published reports that the United States had assured West Germany that no one-sided action would be taken to reduce the number of American troops in Europe.

Wilson said that if any such reductions are to be made they will be largely among supporting units and might involve "some streamlining" of combat outfits.

Group Named To Plan Study For Streets

A committee of Councilmen Chauncey W. D. Kinsey and Ray Osborn and Mayor Bennett Martin has been appointed to study the part Lincoln will take in street improvements in connection with the proposed new interstate highway.

Lincoln has been advised by State Engineer L. N. Riss of the need for putting up $500,000 in order to obtain $6 million in federal funds for a new viaduct, bridges and other work on No. 10th. Riss also told the city that more than $1 million would be available to it to Jan. 1, 1961 in urban aid funds.

These funds must be matched by the city.

The city also has the possibility of getting the proposed northeast diagonal designated as a second access road to the new interstate highway. If so designated, the federal government would supply some $10 million and the city $1 million for construction of the northeast connecting link.

The city's committee, Martin said, will make a careful review of all available revenue that could be used for these purposes. Other new sources of revenue, such as a wheel tax, will also be investigated, he said.

Newk Blanks Pirates, 3-0

JERSEY CITY (AP)—Big Don Newcombe stretched his string of scoreless innings to 33, while claiming his 17th victory, and Duke Snider socked his 31st home run as Brooklyn defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 Tuesday night. It was the fourth straight success for the Dodgers and kept them within 1 1/2 games of National League-leading Milwaukee.

Newk, winning his eighth in a row with his third straight shut-out, beat the Pirates for the fourth time this season. He hurled a six-hitter, striking out six and walking two. The tall right-hander, who has lost five, gave up his first walk in 17 innings when he lost Lee Walls with one out in the sixth.

Snider's homer, over the right-field fence, was his fifth in four games and followed a single by Junior Gilliam in the third against Vern Law, who dropped his 13th against four victories.

The other Dodger run came in the fourth when Jackie Robinson opened with a single, went to second on a sacrifice by Gil Hodges and then came home on a single by Chico Fernandez.

Fast-Rising Phils Club Giants Twice

NEW YORK (AP)—Philadelphia's fast-climbing Phillies took a twilight doubleheader from the New York Giants 4-3 and 3-1 Tuesday night behind southpaws Curt Simmons and Harvey Haddix, padding their winning streak to five games. The first game was bagged on a two-run rally in a wild ninth inning that wound up with New York Manager Bill Rigney ejected for his part in a ruckus over the tying run.

Keatney Rally Sops Islanders

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—Daron Johnson hit his 14th homer in the eighth to tie the score and Keatney then got the winning run on a Faye Dunbar single, his steal of second and a single by Ralph Cunningham as Grand Island lost, 5-4, in a Nebraska State League game.

Bob Cacciariello of Grand Island had a no-hitter until the sixth when Keatney got to him for three runs to tie at 3-3. He fanned 13 and Dick Rump, Keatney pitcher, fanned 10.

KNOW YOUR GOLF

By TOMMY ARMOUR

In addition to keeping the head steady and the face of the putter square to the line of the hole, here are other principles followed by many very good putters: (a) Take a stance that keeps the head above the ball; (b) have the hands and the head of the putter practically in a vertical line; (c) play the ball about in line with the toe of the left foot; (d) putt with the shoulders rather than with the wrists; (e) have the right forearm sliding across the right hip; (f) hold the putter mainly with the fingers, and not tightly; (g) stand with the knees loose to avoid tension and swing the putter in an unhurried rhythm.

Saxton Decisions Willing Allison

BOSTON (AP)—Welterweight king Johnny Saxton, tuning up for a championship clash with Carmen Basilio next month, gave willing Barry Allison of Springfield a boxing lesson Tuesday night for a unanimous decision in a non-title 10-rounder at the Arena. Both fighters weighed 152.

The 26-year-old champion from New York had expressed hope for "a good workout" against Allison and that's what he got from the former New England welterweight titlist.

Hawks Handed 4th Straight Loss, 7-5

TOPEKA (AP)—Albuquerque pushed across two unearned runs in the ninth inning Tuesday night to pin the fourth straight defeat on Topeka's Hawks, 7-5.

A meager gathering of 673 Community Park patrons saw the Hawks bash out 15 hits, including homers by Jim McDaniel and Al Weygant. But Topeka's lusty bat work was thwarted by five Duke doubleplays, which equaled a Western League record for the ninth time.

Chisox Win Pair From Kansas City

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox took two 10-inning decisions over the Kansas City Athletics Tuesday, 5-4 and 4-3, with Walt Drope's bat featuring both decisive rallies. The White Sox stranded 18 men in the second game, 16 of them in the first nine innings, but fell two short of the record.

Pueblo Blanks Bruins

DES MOINES (AP)—Armando Suarez, slender left-hander, held DES Moines to seven hits and batted in four runs as Pueblo whipped the Bruins 9-0 Tuesday night.

Des Moines had Suarez filled the ropes when the Bruins filled the bases in both the first and second innings, but Armando pitched his way out of trouble and gave up only three hits in the last seven.

Yank skipper Casey Stengel called in lefty Tommy Byrne for the second straight day. Byrne's brilliant job Monday night saved a 4-3 decision over the Sox that ended a six-game New York losing skid.

Jockey Dave Erb Honored By York Followers Today

Lincoln Star Special
YORK — Banners will unfurl, bugles will blow, and hospitality will prevail tonight at York when a native son comes home.

Dave Erb, pilot of Needles, winner of the 1956 Kentucky Derby, will hit York at 10 p.m. With him will be his wife and the delegation of Yorkites who made a trip to the Lincoln Airport to meet the pint-sized 33-year old.

Wearing a floral horseshoe over his shoulders, and sitting in a convertible Erb will be taken through the business district and to the local hotel where a reception will be held in his honor.

Thursday, his day, he will officially launch the 1956 York County 4-H Fair. In the mercantile building Erb will have a specially constructed booth where he will meet and greet old and new friends. At the evening performance, he will share honors with another great who got his start in York, Arthur W. Thompson of Lincoln, one of the greatest livestock figures in the country.

Both will be publicly introduced and presented a plaque from their home community, courtesy of the York County Fair Board, headed up by C. Alvin Olson, chairman. Roy Tucker is chairman of Dave Erb Day.

Erb was born on a farm southwest of York, the son of Frank Erb. He liked horses from the time he could walk, and at a tender age he rigged up a track in the feed lot of his grandfather, I. Q. Erb, where he and his cousin, Joan Brownell, now Mrs. Jack Peschka of York trotted their ponies.

He was 15 years of age when he shipped away from home and signed up at Lincoln as a jockey. He rode in his first race in Lincoln.

His father, grandfathers Erb and W. A. Hanchett, uncle Norman Erb and aunt, Mrs. Harold Beatrice live at York, besides his cousin, Joan.

Thompson, a native farm boy of York County, was in the auction business for half a century. To him belongs the exclusive distribution of selling ten Hereford bulls for more than $50,000 each.

One of the greatest livestock figures in America, Thompson of Lincoln was significantly honored in Chicago during International week of 1951 when his portrait was presented to the famed Saddle and Siroin Club art gallery, graced only by greats in the livestock world.

This famed personage will place the jeweled crowns of achievement on the heads of the 1956 4-H King and Queen, who will reign during the remaining two days of York County Fair.

President Signs $7½-Billion Flood Insurance Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $7½-billion dollar experimental federal flood insurance and loan program was signed into law Tuesday by President Eisenhower.

In signing the measure, Eisenhower called it "admittedly experimental" but said it "will open the way to a new field of protection for our homes and our business and community properties against one of the most serious exposures to loss that we face today."

The legislation was inspired largely by heavy property losses from the 1955 floods and the fact that private companies do not insure against such losses.

The President pointed out that "private insurance companies have found no way within the limits of their own resources to venture into this field or risk without danger of being wiped out before adequate reserves can be established."

Practical Cost
Eisenhower said protection against loss "from virtually every other type of natural disaster is already obtainable at practical cost" but "we have not yet developed a feasible method of insuring against the unpredictable and catastrophic losses that floods entail."

The new law, Eisenhower said, does not mean the government is placed permanently in the flood insurance business.

"On the contrary," he said, "it provides for the government to lead the way" so that flood insurance can be absorbed into normal insurance facilities "in the shortest possible time."

Insurance Loans
As Senate and House versions of the proposal were finally compromised and sent to the White House, the law provides for both insurance and loans.

A program of direct federal insurance, or reinsurance of commercial policies might be issued, to a maximum federal liability of five billion dollars.

Insurance purchasers would pay at least 60 per cent of an estimated premium rate and the federal government, for the first three years, the remaining fee, or subsidy.

Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed a multibillion dollar bill combining housing programs for home seekers, home owners, slum dwellers, builders and others.

The measure gives the Federal Housing Administration authority to write another three billion dollars of mortgage insurance, and continues for two years the federal subsidy program of public housing for low income families.

The latter hotly disputed provision had threatened for weeks to block congressional action on the entire housing program. It was not settled until Congress in its closing hours accepted the figure of 35,000 units a year which the administration had advocated instead of the 135,000 units a year originally voted by the Senate.

Among the bill's many features are:

Authority to construct another 150,000 units of housing at or near military bases, the FHA to write $2,300,000,000 of mortgage insurance.

Watershed
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed, with some misgivings, a bill to broaden the Agriculture Department's watershed protection and upstream flood prevention.

The new law will permit storage of water for municipal supply and streamflow regulation as well as for flood control, irrigation and drainage.

The general purposes of the new law, Eisenhower said, "are useful and in keeping with the concern which this administration has continually expressed as to the need for a partnership between the federal government and the local people in conserving two of our most valuable resources—soil and water."

But he expressed "regret that in one respect the new law is a step backwards." Under its terms, he said, the federal government will be required to assume the full cost of building structural works which provide flood reduction benefits.

And he added that when the next Congress gets legislation to carry out recommendations of his advisory committee on water resources policy, he will ask the lawmakers to change the feature which he criticized.

Land-Saving

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 150 million dollar program of farm land restoration in the 10-state drought and dust bowl area of the Great Plains was signed into law Tuesday by President Eisenhower.

A major feature of the Administration's farm program, the new Great Plains Conservation Law affords federal help on a voluntary basis to farm western farmers in areas eroded by wind and drought.

With the government contributing up to 80 per cent of the cost, farmers and ranchers may contract up to 10 years for installation of new land use practices and crop systems intended to restore eroded lands.

The program applies to farms and ranches in counties to be designated by the Secretary of Agriculture in Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

Three School Tax Requests Exceed Budgets, Board Told

The 1956 tax requests of Lancaster County School Districts 29, 61 and 76 appear to exceed their stated operating budgets, the Rock Island Railroad tax department has advised the County Board.

The Board was asked by letter to give consideration to the districts' budgets, anticipated miscellaneous revenue and cash balances in determining proper tax levies.

Two districts are said by the railroad tax expert to need no levy this year for tax funds based on their stated requirements, while the third's tax request exceeds its revenue need.

Cannot Build Surpluses
It is pointed out that Nebraska law and court decisions provide a school district cannot build surpluses in tax money and the county board of equalization must set a levy only for school tax needs.

The railroad's computations from county records of the districts' financial conditions take into account cash balances, and other revenue in relation to proposed budgets plus a 50 per cent operating balance.

A 50 per cent operating balance allowed in the railroad's computation is said to be "more liberal" than provided by the attorney general's opinion.

29 Asking $1,500
District 29 is asking $1,500 in tax funds for its proposed $1,950 budget. Allowing a 50 per cent balance of $975, the district is said to need no tax levy because cash balances and other revenues exceed its stated need.

District 61 is asking $3,144 in tax funds, but is claimed to need no levy. Its computed financial condition shows a $5,798 budget including operating balance but cash balance and other anticipated revenue total $6,231.

District 76 is asking $1,500 in tax funds, but its net tax needs are computed at $378. The budget with operating balance is computed at $2,842 with $2,264 available from cash balances and other revenue.

The County Board laid the railroad's letter on the table pending a meeting on school district levies.

Benefit Boost To Retirement Rolls Is Signed By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday signed a bill increasing by 10 per cent the monthly benefits of most of the 470,400 persons on railroad retirement rolls.

The increases are effective retroactively to July 1 of this year. "I take this action," Eisenhower said, "for two reasons:

"First, it will help thousands of retired railroad employees and their wives to meet their day-to-day living expenses."

"Secondly, the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee has indicated its unanimous determination to act promptly in the next session of the Congress on a measure which will finance the cost of these benefit increases."

"It is imperative satisfactory legislation for this purpose be proposed and enacted," Eisenhower said.

He added it is estimated that the benefit increases provided in the new law will cost $3 million dollars a year, at a level premium basis, raising the deficiency to 169 million a year.

Capital Strafed

All Crops Deteriorated, Especially Corn—Report

All crops showed further deterioration last week, with the damage to corn especially marked, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Tuesday.

This was true despite some substantial local showers in a fourth of the counties with amounts ranging from one to two inches or more, the report said. Temperatures averaged five degrees above normal in the southeastern part of the state.

The department said corn is still

Three Bottle Club Operators Fail To Resume Business

OMAHA (AP) — District Judge Patrick W. Lynch blocked an attempt by three Omaha bottle club operators to resume business.

The places have been padlocked since Feb. 18 under injunctions granted by Judge Lynch.

The operators sought to open up after-hours drinking establishments while awaiting a Supreme Court decision on their appeals of Judge Lynch's injunction rulings.

An attorney for the bottle club operators made an oral motion asking the court to fix the amount of bond the operators could put up to set aside the injunctions while the appeals are pending. Allowing the bonds would have enabled operators of the Delmonico Dinner Club, Town Club, Inc., and the Tavern Owners, Waiters and Bartenders Club to reopen their clubs.

Judge Lynch overruled the motion.

in good condition in about ten eastern counties, but in the others it has been damaged badly, much of it beyond recovery.

"Corn condition reports indicate almost failure in a number of the counties," the report said. Heaviest damage dates from the high temperatures and hot winds of July 26, 27 and 28.

Irrigation Very Good
But the condition of 900,000 acres of irrigated corn in the western third of the state is very good, the report continued.

About half of the counties reported a fair outlook for dry land alfalfa.

Part of the wild hay crop has been harvested, with some good yields reported.

Pasture, very poor so far this year, shows still further deterioration, but most western counties report pastures in fair condition.

Farmers Union Chief Predicts A Revived Brannan Farm Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union predicted at a Democratic Platform Committee hearing Tuesday that the controversial Brannan Farm Plan will be revived at the next session of Congress.

Patton himself gave warm endorsement to the plan and urged that major features of it be incorporated in the party's farm plank.

Under this plan—advanced in 1949 by former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan—farm prices would be supported at considerably higher levels and the government would pay out subsidies to assure producers of the guaranteed returns.

Brannan, now an official of the Farmers Union, is seeking the seat of Sen. Milliken (R-Colo.).

Warmly Greeted

Patton lashed out at what he

called "broken promises" of the Eisenhower administration. He received a warm reception from the committee. This was in sharp contrast to the coolness most members showed toward President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation yesterday.

Shuman asked the Democrats to endorse the flexible price support system, which features the Republican farm program.

The interest shown Patton and his views was so great that time which had been assigned for hearing witnesses on foreign affairs was used in eliciting detailed recommendations from him.

Patton said government farm programs should assure family farm operators a yearly average income of $5,000 in terms of 1955 dollars compared with last year's average of $2,200. He also advocated a minimum wage rate of $1.50 an hour for industrial workers compared with the present $1 minimum.

County Board OKs 2 Trailer Permits

The Lancaster County Board has approved two more permit renewals for trailer courts, but temporarily disapproved two others.

Approved were R. J. Chaplin Trailer Court, 2040 West O, and Tower View Trailer Court, 2140 Adams.

Approximately six other courts are to be heard on permit renewals at next Tuesday's regular meeting.

Rabbi Wolfgang Hamburger will officiate. Burial will be in Wyuka.

Mrs. Perlman died Monday in Minneapolis. She had lived in Lincoln for 50 years before moving to Minneapolis two months ago. Born in Stillwater, Minn., Mrs. Perlman was a member of South Street Temple, South Street Sisterhood, Council of Jewish Women and Hadassah.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Marian Perlman of Lincoln, sons, Dr. Everett and Dr. Herschel, both of Minneapolis, Alan of Atlantic City, N. J., Ted of York, Neb., sisters, Mrs. Eva Segal and Miss Eleanor Cohen, both of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Marian Nafolin of Minneapolis, Mrs. Hattie Harlin of Madison, Wis., brothers, David Cohen of Los Angeles, Walter Cohen of Miami, Henry Cohen of Detroit, and 12 grandchildren.

Art Destroyed

BERLIN (AP)—A masterpiece of the Dresden art collection—a painting by Italian master Guido Reni called the Resting Venus and Amor—was destroyed by a vandal last Saturday, the East Berlin newspaper Bz Am Abend reported.

The unknown perpetrator crossed the painting with a knife, the report said.

The destroyed masterpiece was one of the 1,240 paintings recently returned to the East German authorities by the Russians after they were seized by Soviet troops in 1945.

Estate Asks $60,000 From County

A $60,000 death damages suit against Lancaster County was filed Tuesday in connection with a fatal automobile accident July 23 involving a county bridge southeast of Lincoln.

The Lancaster District Court suit was brought by R. L. Bartlett, as special administrator for the estate of Harry Lee Smith, 22, an airman who lived at 4510 Baldwin.

Mr. Smith, the suit alleges, was fatally injured because of the "insufficiency, unsafe condition, and want of repair" of the bridge, which was found collapsed after the accident.

The bridge is located 5½ miles east of 56th and Highway 2.

A woman passenger in the car escaped critical injury in the mishap.

The suit was filed within the statutory 30-day period for bringing claim against the county.

County authorities have contended the bridge collapsed when the car hit a "key" support of the steel-truss span.

The possibility of a counter-claim for damages to the bridge on this contention is being considered by the county.

Reds Depart

BERLIN (AP)—Two Soviet regiments left East German cities to return home, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

The withdrawal is part of a planned reduction by 33,500 men of Russian forces stationed in Communist East Germany.

'Off Limits'

FORT BUCKNER, Okinawa (AP)—The U.S. armed forces declared south central Okinawa "off limits" for servicemen to avoid friction between them and Okinawans holding rallies to protest requisitioning of their land.

Okinawans have held a series of rallies and parades to protest further requisitioning of their land for U.S. bases, and the method of payment for land now held.

Asks $500,000; Says Cop Scared Him With Ticket

NEW YORK (AP)—A motorist filed a $500,000 claim against the city Tuesday on the ground that the way a traffic summons was given him aggravated a heart condition and shortened his life expectancy.

Eugene Douvan, 52, a real estate man, contended Patrolman Graham V. Fisher spent more than a half hour in issuing a ticket June 1 and that the policeman's manner was "dictatorial" and "malicious."

Douvan said he was so upset he took approximately 20 nitroglycerin pills for his heart condition and had to go to a hospital.
